PALMER STARTS PROBE OF STEEL MILL DISTRICT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Atty. Gen. Palmer today began studying working conditions in the steel mill districts as union officials went ahead perfecting plans to handle the nationwide strike set for Sept. 22.

"If federal laws are violated the department of justice will act," said Palmer.

Union leaders charge that constitutional guarantees of the rights of free speech and free assembly have been nullified in western Pennsylvania at the behest of the United States Steel corporation. The steel workers say this is why it became necessary for them to refuse the request of Pres. Wilson that strike action be deferred until October, when labor and capital will meet here in a "round table" conference.

Palmer let it be known today he has been in touch for several weeks with conditions in the Pennsylvania mill districts, where, the unions charge, the steel companies have been conducting a campaign of "brutal murders" through use of "professional gunmen and thugs," employed as property guards.
